

THE HÄTTU RUGS

KNOTTING THREADS WITH EMOTION

ABOUT US

Based in Bhaktapur, Nepal, we have been a manufacturer and exporter of both traditional Tibetan and contemporary luxury hand-knotted rugs for over 30 years. We use 100% pure premium wool from Tibet and New Zealand, high quality silk, 100% Nettle and other globally sourced materials – all of which are ethically sourced. All rugs are woven by our highly skilled weavers, ensuring the highest quality and durability to withstand a lifetime of use.

The knotting method used in handmade rug making is different than that of traditional rug making worldwide. We use a traditional Tibetan weaving method, which features a unique and ancient knotting technique that converts any intricate designs through the utilization of various knot densities.

We take great pride in the quality, tailored customization, and effort that goes behind each of our designs – which feature everything from traditional Tibetan to contemporary designs all of which are totally unique.

HIMALAYAN WOOL

Himalayan wool is a natural fiber that is known for its durability, resilience, and texture. It is considered one of the finest materials for handmade carpets due to its ability to hold color and resist stains. Himalayan wool is sourced from a breed of sheep that live in high-altitude regions, where they grow thick, strong wool to protect themselves from harsh weather conditions. Carpets made from Himalayan wool are not only beautiful, but also sustainable and eco-friendly. The natural lanolin in the wool helps to repel dirt and dust, making these carpets easy to clean and maintain. Himalayan wool is hand-spun and hand-dyed, which gives each carpet a unique, one-of-a-kind look and feel. Investing in a handmade carpet made from Himalayan wool is not only a wise choice for your home, but also for the environment.

Benefits:

- Durable & Flexible.
- Warm, Cozy & Comfy.
- Resistance to Dirt and Soiling.
- Fire Resistant and Inflammable.
- Hypoallergenic.
- Natural and Sustainable.
- Biodegradable Material.

NETTLE

The nettle plant in Nepal is the big brother of the stinging nettle found in other parts of the world. More commonly known as 'Allo' or the Giant Himalayan Nettle its botanical name is Girardinia diversifolia. Nettle rugs possess a rich sheen with a subtle reflective quality similar to silk. Nettle grows wild in the remote regions of Nepal. Harsh and prickly, usually avoided at all costs, the hand-spun nettle fibre is extremely resistant and soft, perfect to create rugs. The hand-knotted Nettle rug presents a unique surface, comfortable and inviting. Many of our customers associate nettle with hemp or jute, and although they're similar, nettle has certain characteristics that set it apart. Hemp and nettle are both food, fibre, and medicinal plants used throughout the world. The fibre is a hollow fibre and is warm in the winter and cool in the summer and is luxury and strong in nature hence is very good for making carpets. Allo fiber has great features; that it is cool in summer and warm in winter, and it's quite waterproof, durable. Colour may vary which each carpet.

Benefits:

- Soft, light weight.
- Aesthetically pleasing appearance.
- Natural and Sustainable.
- Biodegradable Material.

HEMP

Made from the finest wild growing cannabis of the Himalayas, this carpet is one of its kind and is very limited in availability and one of the premium handcrafted products. Hemp carpets are woven from hemp grass (also known as mountain grass) found in the highlands of Nepal, which is both renewable as well as pesticide free fiber. Hemp carpet is a textile product made from the stalks of industrial hemp. Hemp carpet are sustainable, highly durable, and hypoallergenic. The final product is very similar to other popular types of fabric. It can also be colored with natural or synthetic dyes. This type of carpets is very durable and have a beautiful deep tone, however the fiber is harder underfoot than sisal, jute or Sisal Wool blends. Hemp rugs absorb moisture, which can lead to mold and mildew, and therefore they are not well-suited for cleaning methods that involve water saturation, such as steam cleaning or wet shampoos.

Benefits:

- Helps the environment by reducing carbon.
- Hemp has Antimicrobial Properties.
- Durable and long lasting.
- 4x the durability of other natural fibers.
- Hemp carpets are resistant to UV rays.
- Hemp carpets are lightweight, and water-resistant too.

SILK

Silk is one of the most luxurious materials used in hand-knotted carpets, prized for its exceptional softness, luminous sheen, and intricate detailing. Derived from natural silk fibers, this material enhances the carpet's beauty by adding a delicate texture and a mesmerizing glow that shifts with the light. Silk is often used in combination with wool to highlight intricate patterns, add contrast, or create a stunning, high-low texture. Pure silk carpets are the pinnacle of craftsmanship, often showcasing breathtaking floral motifs, medallions, and traditional designs with unmatched elegance.

Perfect for luxury homes, boutique spaces, and artful interiors, silk hand-knotted carpets are more than just floor coverings—they are masterpieces of timeless beauty and sophistication.
